DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bennett.

Bennett et al. shows, figures 7 and 8, a printing system with automatic statistical compilation and billing. There is a section, Statistical and Billing Information, in columns 5-8 which is of particular interest. The system described above may include several print jobs in memory (path, second print service) since jobs can be scanned at one time and then stored for subsequent printing. The system control 54 (printer agent) can include a mechanism for identifying each account and counting the number of reprographic system functions performed for that specific print job (accounting support for print services, third print service). The system control 54 can also store the billing rates for the various system functions for each account and calculate the billing cost for that account, as for example, the product of the rate for the printing function and the number of printing functions performed (tracking/evaluating). Looking at figure 2, one can see that the printer agent function and the accounting support services exist as subsets of system control 54 and reside on controller 7, which acts as a server for the network shown in figure 2. All information to be inputted into the controller 7 can be accomplished using the UI 52 (API). When a customer account has been deactivated by the system operator, requests to bill against the account will be denied. Printing jobs already in the printer queue that reference the account will be allowed to print, and will subsequently be billed to the account. A system operator can look at the print job summary or delete a print job with a deactivated account name. However, a new account name must be assigned to the original job in order to move or copy it (inherently, accept, reject, and hold functions are accomplished). The printer agent in controller 7 is clearly separate and apart from printer 8.

Examiner's note. From a computer dictionary, a server is a computer or program that responds to commands from a client on a network. A network is a group of computers and associated devices that are connected by communications facilities. By these definitions, the system of figure 2 constitutes a network, controller 7 constitutes a server and the scanner 6 constitutes a client.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 9/19/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant asserts that the prior art does not show a client-server architecture. The examiner does not concur. Based on the definitions of the recited claimed terms, the prior art reads on the claims. Applicant has provided no specific structure to define its client-server architecture to overcome the prior art.

Applicant has removed the limitations to require a 35 USC 103 rejection.

Therefore, the arguments about the Moore reference are moot.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
